I'm a loyal listener of satellite radio and I'm strongly against the government trying to take satellite radio of the air. Instead of spending the time on an issue that doesn't hurt anybody spend the time worrying and taking care of issues like our soldiers in Iraq, who are lossing their lives day by day and since the majority of the time they spend is protecting and serving our country. Its time to bring them home. In this country there is always going to be more important issues to our government than music and who's listening to what and where.
